TWO BOYS BITTEN BY DOGS WHILE PLAYING

While playing in the alley in the rear of the 500 block School street southwest, Lee Clagett, six years old, 423 Sixth street southwest, was bitten by a dog yesterday morning on the left leg, left arm, and right shoulder. He was treated by the family physician, who said the child's injuries are not serious. The animal is said to have been muzzled at the time.

Arthur Simms, colored, thirteen years old, 517 Third street southwest, was bitten on the left leg by a dog while the boy was playing in front of 323 Knox court yesterday evening.

FAMOUS BOWMAKER DIES IN LONDON HOME

LONDON, May 12.—Announcement of the death here of James Tubbs, of Soho, conveyed little to the average citizen, but it meant much to players of violins.

Tubbs was a past master in the art of violin bowmaking and numbered among his clients such celebrities as Kreisler, Paganini, Bottesini, Sivoni, Gompertz and Straus. In fact, everyone in the violin world knew "Tubbs of Soho," who toiled in his small house in the heart of that district of London.

Some years ago Tubbs retired and was succeeded by his son, but the latter died and Tubbs emerged again to his bowmaking, at which he worked to the time of his death.

MRS. MARGARET E. KENNELLY.
Mrs. Margaret E. Kennelly, for nearly seventy years a resident of the District, died yesterday at her residence, 224 Second street southeast, after an extended illness. She was seventy-four years old.

Mrs. Kennelly was born at Limerick, Ireland, but came to this country when a child. She is survived by five children, five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Solemn high mass will be celebrated at St. Peter's Catholic Church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

J. J. DUNNIGAN.
J. J. Dunnigan, veteran of the Civil war, and a former Democratic leader in Minnesota, was buried yesterday in Arlington Cemetery. A guard of honor, made up of Grand Army veterans, and a firing squad from Fort Myer, officiated.

Palbearers were Congressmen Kautson and Newton of Minnesota; Congressman Young of North Dakota; A. D. Rahn and Donald Conn of Minneapolis; and Simon Michelet of Minneapolis and Washington. Mr. Dunnigan had lived in Washington since 1915 with his daughter, Mrs. George F. Authier. He was eighty-three years old, and a widower.

JUSTICE STAHN.

Justice Stahn, jeweler, student, and astronomer, and father of Mrs. James S. Pates, of Washington, died last night at his home in Baltimore. He was sixty-seven years old.

On the roof of his home Mr. Stahn had constructed an observatory on a small scale, and his knowledge of astronomy attracted many scientists to his house. These meetings gradually formed the Astronomical Society of Baltimore, which virtually was the beginning of the Maryland Academy of Sciences.

He contributed many articles on astronomy to scientific journals. He was a native of Baltimore, and for many years conducted a jewelry store in that city.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Adeline Chamberlain Stahn; two daughters, Mrs. Pates and Mrs. Chester F. Johnston; and a son, J. M. Stahn.

MRS. M. H. BURDETTE.

ROCKVILLE, Md., May 12.—Mrs. Marian H. Burdette, aged fifty-one years, widow of George H. Burdette, died yesterday morning at her home at Silver Spring. She had been ill a long while of an affection of the lungs, and her death was not unexpected. She is survived by several sons and daughters. The funeral will take place from the family residence at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, burial to be in Rock Creek Cemetery. Mrs. Burdette before her marriage was a Miss Giddings, of this county.

J. ALPHONZO REID.

ROCKVILLE, Md., May 12.—Funeral services for J. Alphonzo Reid, well-known farmer, who died suddenly of heart disease at his home near Burdette, this county, early Monday morning, were held at 10 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Barnesville, the pastor, the Rev. Father Cudahy, officiating. Burial was in the cemetery near the church.

MRS. MARY A. STEVENS.

Mrs. Mary Agnes Stevens, wife of Homer Stevens, died yesterday at Georgetown University Hospital. She was the daughter of the late Thomas and Mary Kelly.

Funeral services will be held from the home of her sister, Mrs. James Noone, 1246 H street northeast, Saturday morning. Requiem high mass will be celebrated at the Church of the Holy Name at 9:30 o'clock. Interment will be at Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

MRS. SARAH M. FENNELL.

Mrs. Sarah Meagher Fennell, for many years a resident of this city, died yesterday at Garfield Hospital. The funeral will take place from her residence, 1132 Twenty-fifth street northwest tomorrow morning. Later mass will be celebrated at St. Paul's Church. The body will be taken to Laurel, Md., for interment.

Mrs. Fennell is survived by her husband, W. P. Fennell and seven children—William A., Charles J., Robert B., Anthony B., Viola T., Aubrey B. and Sarah Fennell.

MISS MARY L. JENNINGS.
Miss Mary Loretta Jennings, for a number of years an examiner in the numbering division, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, died yesterday at her residence, 1430 W street northwest, after a five weeks' illness.

Mass will be celebrated tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at St. Paul's Catholic Church. Interment will be in Congressional Cemetery.

Miss Jennings was born in Washington forty-three years ago. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. W. O. Wetmore, of Fort Bliss, Tex., and Mrs. Grace F. Jenkins, and two brothers, J. A. and J. F. Jennings.

MISS THERESA G. HESSLER.
Solemn requiem high mass will be celebrated tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at St. Dominic's Church for Miss Theresa Gertrude Hessler, an employee in the Office of Auditor for the Navy Department, who died Tuesday after an extended illness. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Miss Hessler was born in Washington. She was fifty years old. She was deeply interested in all charitable work, and was an active member of the auxiliary of Providence Hospital.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary V. Hessler, and two sisters, Mary M. and Agnes B. Hessler.

COL. E. T. CLAYTON.
A military funeral for Col. Bertram T. Clayton, the first American of his rank to be killed in the world war, was held yesterday at the Church of the Epiphany. Interment was in Arlington Cemetery.

While leading the Third Cavalry from Fort Myer in the funeral procession, Capt. O. L. Sanders hurt his knees when his horse reared and fell, pinning him to the street. Despite the injury, Captain Sanders insisted upon mounting his charger and heading the procession.

Colonel Clayton was killed on Memorial Day, 1918, by an enemy air bomb. Mrs. Clayton and her son, Capt. William Clayton, and Robert L. Clayton, a brother of the colonel, attended the services.

Among the pallbearers were Gen. John J. Pershing, Maj. Gen. Avery D. Andrews, of the National army; Maj. Gen. Frank McIntyre, chief of the Insular Bureau; Col. M. M. Patrick, corps of engineers; Col. Julius A. Penn, Gen. Charles L. Menoher, air service, and Col. Charles C. Walcott, cavalry, all of whom were classmates of Colonel Clayton at West Point, and Maj. Gen. H. L. Rogers, Col. William E. Horton, Col. Frank B. Watson, Col. B. F. Cheatham and Gen. Jesse McG. Carter, who were associated with him in his military service.

COL. H. A. SMITH.
With full military honors, the body of Col. Hamilton A. Smith, who was killed in the Aisne-Marne offensive was interred this morning in Arlington Cemetery. An escort of cavalry from Fort Myer headed the cortege. Colonel Smith's classmates of West Point, '93, acted as pallbearers.

Colonel Smith was commander of the Twenty-sixth Infantry. First division. He entered the military service in 1892, following his graduation from the United States Military Academy at West Point. During the late war, he was decorated several times for conspicuous bravery by both the French and United States governments.
